PECULIARITIES OF THE PROSPECTORS

They Add Much to the Sum of Human Happiness Without Much Material Profit to Themselves.

The prospector is a curious specimen of the genus homo. His favorite range is usually the hills of the desert country, where fuel is scarce and water is scarcer, says the Wonder Miner. Usually he is an unsocial animal, preferring to roam in the company of from two to six small quadrupeds with great ears and solemn countenances. Occasionally they travel in pairs, but are very seldom seen in droves. Sometimes when news of the discovery of that which they are seeking reaches in the mysterious way news has of travelling across the desert, great numbers of them congregate at or near the point of discovery, and then for a time their actions are not easily understood by one not acquainted with their habits. At any and all hours of the day and night they disappear, and begin roaming the hills, occasionally stopping long enough to pile up rocks. With few exceptions they are kind and docile, but when pressed closely are likely to become dangerous. While not in the least bit timid, they seem to have very little use for human habitations, preferring the freedom and solitude of the open country.

They seldom have any permanent abode, but occasionally make a protracted stay near the banks of some mountain stream, where they subsist largely on mountain trout, sage hen and grouse.

Sometimes they find bodies of ore, but seldom make use of their discoveries, preferring to exchange them for a fraction of their value in money, which they proceed to dispose of with a facility that is astonishing. For originality in finding ways of getting rid of the root of all evil they are unsurpassed, no two of them apparently applying the same method.

They are capable of withstanding great hardships and privations and are so constituted mentally as to either forget unpleasant experiences or to look upon them as all in the day's work.

As a rule, though not teetotalers they are temperate. They do not work for wages, and though now and then one will accept employment, he may be relied upon to quit his job as soon as he has earned a grubstake, or sooner if he gets wind of a new discovery anywhere within a thousand miles. In the latter case no inducement will hold him.

There seems to be a microbe in his system which impels him onward along the trails and he is powerless to resist.

In their business dealings they are much above the average around a fire of evenings recounting experiences one frequently surpasses Baron Munchausen in his favorite pastime.

In fact, the tales that some of them tell, if they could be transcribed, with gestures, vernacular and stage setting would make the reputation of the scribe who set them down.

Though seldom seen in society, they are useful members, for, like scientific investigators, they add to the sum of human happiness and comfort, usually without much material profit to themselves. The end that comes to them is as variable as their paths of life.

5 MEN DIE IN CALIFORNIA TO EVERY 3 WOMEN

SACRAMENTO, July 25.—The sex distribution of the 32,298 deaths in California in 1910 according to a report issued Saturday by the state board of health, was as follows: Male, 20,210, or 62.3 per cent, and female 12,210, or 37.7 per cent. The percentage of male was 62.4 for 1909, 62.2 for 1908, 63.2 for 1907, and 62.0 for 1906.

As compared with 62.3 per cent male for all causes in 1910, 84.1 of all deaths from miscellaneous violence were males; 83.1 per cent of all deaths from suicides were males; 67.7 per cent of all deaths from typhoid fever were males, and 67.1 per cent of all deaths from tuberculosis of the lungs were males also.

The proportion of male deaths from heart disease, Bright's disease and pneumonia was in each case 63 per cent, as against the total number of deaths of females from these causes.

The proportion of female decedents was notably high, only four deaths from whooping cough and cancer. As against all deaths from whooping cough there was 56 per cent females, and in the case of cancer the figures show that 52.1 per cent were females.

MARRIAGE QUICKLY FOLLOWS THIS LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

CHICAGO, July 25.—The marriage of Miss Mildred Kretsinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Kretsinger of Evanston, to Otto Herman von Zell of San Francisco took place yesterday at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. After the ceremony the Von Zells left for San Francisco, where they will be at home after October 1. The marriage is the culmination of a brief courtship. Miss Kretsinger was traveling in California, and when she left Pasadena a friend said he had a friend in San Francisco whom he would like her to meet, so he gave her a letter of introduction to Von Zell. It was love at first sight and instead of staying in San Francisco three days, as she had intended, she remained three weeks and became engaged. That was just two months ago. Now they are man and wife.

ASSESSOR SENT UP FOR A LONG TERM

OAKLAND, July 25.—Former County Assessor Henry P. Dalton was sentenced yesterday to eight years in San Quentin on conviction of receiving a bribe of $5000 from the Spring Valley water company to reduce the company's assessment. Dalton was much affected when sentenced.

RICH ORE IS BEING SACKED NEAR TOWN

Manager Wells of the Bonanza, No. 1, mining claim, located about three-quarters of a mile to the south of the famous Athens property, was in this city yesterday for a short time and reports that he has struck a nice lead of ore on the property and has extracted two or three tons of the same which has been piled upon the dump ready for shipment. A grab sample of the ore pile gave assay returns of $57 per ton. A shaft is being sunk on the property and the production will be largely increased when further depth is reached.—Carson News.
